Wedding Expenditure Management according to Islamic Perspective

Syh Noorul Madiah binti Syed Husin a, Normadiah binti Daud b, Tengku Fatimah Muliana binti Tengku Muda c, Zurita binti Mohd Yusoff d, Siti Khatijah binti Ismail e, Muhammad Aiman Izzudin bin Mohd Affandy f

a, b, c, d, e, f

Senior Lecturer at Faculty of Islamic Contemporary Study, Universiti Sultan Zainal Abidin, Terengganu, Malaysia
f Master Student at Faculty of Islamic Contemporary Study, Universiti Sultan Zainal Abidin, Terengganu, Malaysia

https://doi.org/10.35609/gcbssproceeding.2021.1 (28)

ABSTRACT

A wedding ceremony has been celebrated merrier from time to time. The changes of lifestyle in modern society have transformed the celebration of the new millennium wedding ceremony with the emergence of various forms of culture and the latest trends. Such celebration will affect the cost of expenses that need to be provided by the individual who wants to get married according to the current style and trends. Poor preparation in marriage expenditure management will impact the couple’s financial management problems. While in reality, Islam is never against for Muslims to spend for marriage. However, the expenditure should follow the Islamic guidelines. Thus, this paper seeks to unravel the element of wedding expenditure in Islam and to present the concept of wedding expenditure management that is encouraged by Islamic law.

Keywords: Wedding Expenses, Wedding Expenditure, Wedding Management